

PINACLE® Reporting Services

PNC's PINACLE® Reporting Services provide the customer with balance and transaction information reporting for the customer's deposit accounts and borrowing relationship(s) on a current day and/or historical basis, as well as periodic online statement delivery. PINACLE is PNC's online and mobile banking platform for businesses and institutions. The customer may choose to access the customer's deposit account information online within PINACLE, have the data sent to the customer through another delivery channel, such as File Transfer, API or PINACLE Connect, or the customer may have PNC deliver the customer's account information to another financial institution or entity.

- Transactions that display on current day reports are received by PNC, but not yet posted to the customer's account. Those transactions are subject to verification and adjustment.
- If the customer uses PNC's Data Exchange Service to report deposit account information from another financial institution, the customer agrees to authorize the other financial institution(s) to send this information to PNC. PNC is not responsible for the accuracy or timeliness of any data sent to PNC from a third party.
- If the customer authorizes PNC to report deposit account information to another financial institution or third party, PNC is not responsible for the accuracy or timeliness of the third party reporting the data PNC delivers to the third party or for the actions of the third party.