

00:00:00:00 - 00:00:19:19

Unknown

So the Women in Motorsports Initiative has been a fantastic partnership between PNC Bank and Chip Ganassi Racing and we've seen such amazing things come from it even in the short term that we've done it. You know, I think what I always go to is that we just wish we could make the program a lot bigger, a lot quicker.

00:00:19:21 - 00:00:49:12

Unknown

But last season, you know, with, you know, all the interns coming in was huge. And how quickly they activated, how quickly they were able to, you know, help our team and help our team ultimately win. The Indianapolis 500 is big, but I guess the spotlight for me was was my two young daughters who are 11 and 13, you know, seeing these women on the stands, seeing them in the pits, seeing them being involved, and then kind of asking like, oh, what do they do?

00:00:49:12 - 00:01:10:04

Unknown

You know, it was definitely very impressive. And I think, you know, kind of gives them some insight that they can be involved in motor racing, too, which, you know, unfortunately has maybe been, you know, so sided to two boys or men only. So it's been huge. You know, I think to to see how quickly that has activated and how and how much of a big difference it has made.